Chick, chick, chick, chick, chicken ...

We are very lucky to have ten beautiful chickens to look after. This valuable learning is part of our Hauora topic, and the whole school are involved in looking after the chickens. Our students are writing about the chickens. The diary entry below was written on Day 1.

Chicken Diary

On Monday 19 February 10 little chicken eggs arrived at our school Riverina. As I walked into Room 8 I saw two fragile little chicks. They were as soft as a bambillo pillow and as precious as a million dollar jewellery set. When I saw the way they walked they were soooooo cute. I got to sit up close to them and everyone crowded and started to say "Awwwwwwwwwwwwwwwwwwww". The boy chicks are yellow which are the roosters and they are as yellow as yummy cheese. The girl chicks are brown and yellow.
